DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 1-27 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The applicant's arguments provided in the Remarks filed 4/30/2009 are persuasive. After careful review of the specification the Related Art section does not disclose the upper-limiting values discussed on pages 2-4 and shown in Fig. 14, are known in the art. Rather the section indicates these limiting values as a proposed solution to the prior art problem of viewing the inside of a camera housing.

The claims require a camera housing with a slanted plate. The housing further includes an imaging unit rotatable about a pan and a tilt axis. The claims further require a controlling unit for changing an upper limiting pan value in response to both the angle of the slanted plate and the direction of the imaging unit.

After searching and consulting with Art Unit 2622 for their expertise relating to the claims the closest art is Morita et al (6985178), Tanaka (6769131), Arbuckle (6019524) and Gin (20040012715). Morita discloses a camera control system in which pan and tilt limits may be set for a plurality of 'virtual cameras' within the view of a single pan/tilt/zoom camera. Thus upper limiting pan and tilt values are changed based on the 'virtual camera' being utilized. Tanaka discloses changing upper limiting values in response to a zoom state of a camera. However, neither Morita nor Tanaka does disclose a slanted plate or that the pan and tilt values are calculated in response to its angle. Both Gin and Arbuckle disclose a camera mounted a housing with a slanted plate, however neither does not disclose a movable camera, or calculating pan and tilt limits in response to the angle of the slanted plate. Therefore the claims are allowable over the prior art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
